a) While creating the object, when object contain many attribute there are many problem exists:-

1) We have to pass many attributes to create the object
2) Some parameters might be optional
3) Factory class create all the responsibility to create the object. If object is heavy then complexity is a part of creating the object

b) So in builder pattern be create object step by step and finally return final object with desired value of attribute

Steps to create